See Around Britain/Europe/Ireland | Free Information App

See Around Britain/Europe/Ireland, a non for profit organisation based in the UK (but operates on a European basis) is a disability run charity that launched a free app in 2016 allowing older people, people with disabilities and their carers to identify venues, tourist sites, points of interest and other information so people know what to expect when visiting them particularly in the context of accessibility. The app is interactive, enabling venue owners to upload photographs and videos to show how they can be accessed and navigated. As certain aspects of the Covid-19 lockdown are eased, social distancing information will be also included for a number of venues, such as schools, libraries and others. See Around Britain/Ireland/Europe are inviting anyone who wishes to voluntarily upload photos and add to the photobank and information that is provided. ### Aughrim Active Retirement | Pandemic Cocooning Initiative

The members of Aughrim Active Retirement have not let the pandemic stop their independence while they cocoon. They have risen to the challenge of keeping busy and active in their homes by taking on an immense undertaking since the start of the pandemic at the end of March. The members of Aughrim Active Retirement have enriched community spirit of Aughrim and the greater Ballinasloe area. They have been flooded with requests and donations for the charity. The Consumer Association of Ireland (CAI) has said the Government needs to intervene and offer guidance to airlines and ensure that a fund is in place to refund holidaymakers who cancel their bookings during the Covid-19 outbreak. Speaking on RTÉ's Today with Sarah McInerney, CAI Chief Executive Dermot Jewell said that advice about international travel needs to be issued from the Department of Foreign Affairs as "consumers are the weak link" in the priorities looked at to date. He said that Chief Medical Officer Dr Tony Holohan's plea to consumers not to travel "has been heard and has put individuals who have paid in advance out of pocket". Read more here
